Legislative

Millionaires and Billionaires!

Carl San Miguel, V.P.

You will be hearing that phrase a lot this year as Congress and Sacramento struggles with the Budget as to whether to balance or push further down the line on the cure. This will be an issue that won't go away, so, I too will not go away with my comments on defending why increasing taxes is a bad idea. You will also be hearing the rich should pay their fair share of the Taxes. In my research I find that the top 10% of income earners pay 69% of all federal taxes and the bottom 31% income earners pay nothing toward the federal tax revenue. So, I don't know how anyone can say that the rich are not paying their fair share of taxes. I know in our household we have had the discussion on our spending habits and I think it is high time that the State and Federal do the same thing and seek ways to reduce the spending. If we taxed the millionaires and billionaires 100% on their income, it would only generate $1.5 trillion and we could only get away with that one year, because the rich would not be taking an income the second year, so, there goes that golden egg producing goose. Previously I mentioned a Bill pending in Sacramento called SB653 Steinberg. This Bill enables local communities to enact the taxing vehicle of income tax on the local level, so in addition to the State and Federal, every city, county and even school districts will be able to enact an income tax for all residence within their jurisdiction. I express my concern and while I was in Sacramento the first week of May, SB653 made it out of committee and onto the senate for further discussion and possible passage. This is very worrisome. I think it is time to make a phone call to your state Senator to express your outrage that this would even be considered. You can go onto our web site (campbellchamber.com) to get the contact information for our state senator to voice your concern and ask why they would even consider the onerous over taxing bill.

Estate Planning

Estate Planning

Estate planning is a process. Through estate planning, you can determine:

- How and by whom your assets will be managed for your benefit during your lifetime if you ever become unable to manage them yourself.
- When and under what circumstances it makes sense to distribute your assets during your lifetime.
- How and to whom your assets will be distributed after your death.
- How and by whom your personal care will be managed and how health care decisions will be made during your lifetime if you become unable to care foar yourself.

What is involved in estate planning?

There are many issues to consider in creating an estate plan. Firstly, ask yourself the following questions:

- What are my assets and what is their approximate value?
- Whom do I want to receive those assets – and when?
- Who should manage those assets if I cannot – either during my lifetime or after my death?
- Who should be responsible for taking care of my minor children if I become unable to care for them myself?
- Who should make decisions on my behalf concerning my care and welfare if I become unable to care for myself?

Who needs an Estate Plan?

You do – whether your estate is large or small. Estate planning is not for the wealthy. It is for everybody.

If you don't have an estate plan, the State of California has one for you! It is a process known as intestate succession that will be managed by the Probate Court. State law will determine who will be in charge and who will receive the assets of your estate.

If you want to be in charge of these important decisions, you must have Will or Living Trust and Durable Powers of Attorney. When is the right time to prepare an estate plan? Think about that question...but not for too long.

If you have questions about estate planning, you can call Pascal Anastasi, Esq. with the Anastasi Law Group at (408) 292-2606.

From the Office

Our Chamber family is going through a few changes. After three years serving as the Chamber's Financial Assistant, Danielle Coleman is moving on. She has been a tremendous asset for us all hear at the Chamber. We all wish her the best of luck as she prepares herself to take over her father's business.

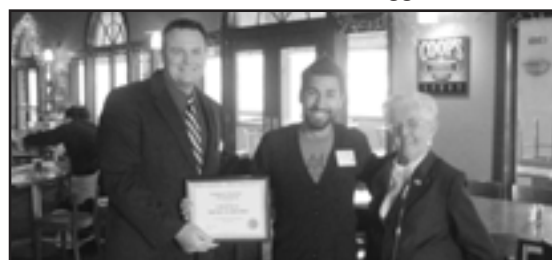

Luckily we were fortunate that we had the perfect candidate available. Long time Chamber member Van Nelson will be joining our team. Van has volunteered many hours over the years and actually helped the Chamber set up the accounting system we use today. Most recently Van was hired to design a new website for the Chamber that we will debut this month.

Change is always difficult, but it's comforting to know we can always tap into the talents of our membership.
